Alumni Wall of Fame 2007 Recipients

Susan Gernert Adams (1974):

Susan G. Adams is a National Producer for Dateline NBC, the news magazine program. Ms. Adams graduated from Colby College and is a four time Emmy Award winning television producer who has traveled throughout the world for NBC and ABC News. Susan worked for the 1988 Summer Olympics, Nightline, and PrimeTime Live.

Barry J. Byrne, M.D., Ph.D (1974):

Barry J. Byrne, M.D., Ph.D. is the Virginia Root Sutherland Professor of Pediatrics. As a member of the Graduate Faculty and Department of Molecular Genetics and Microbiology and Director of the Powell Gene Therapy Center, he is actively involved in laboratory research, as well as a pediatric cardiologist involved in clinical care. His laboratory has developed novel genetic therapies for cardiovascular disease, such as a form of fatal cardiomyopathy in children, known as Pompe disease. The disease is characteristic of many muscle diseases which lead to skeletal and cardiac muscle weakness. He has used AAV vectors to achieve sustained correction of the gene deficiency in Pompe disease models and the strategy is being proposed for human clinical trials. He also studies the use of cell therapy in the treatment of other cardiovascular conditions both in adults and children with heart problems that are not treated by the usual means.

Mark A. McMahon (1968):

Mark McMahon is one of America's most versatile and successful artists. His paintings and drawings are regularly exhibited in museums and galleries in the United States and abroad, and have also appeared in print and video media. His documentary paintings of the launching of the Space Shuttle for NASA have been exhibited at the Air and Space Museum of the Smithsonian Institution. His most prominent displays are in the Chicago area and include a ceramic tile mural at the Chicago Tribune Freedom Center, a ceramic tile mural at the corner of Van Buren and Federal Streets, and an 8' x 110' ceramic tile mural at Lake Forest High School Cafeteria and at the McDonald's restaurant on Waukegan Road in Lake Forest.
